

$500 STUDENT TRAVEL SCHOLARSHIPS

The Sport Ecology Group is proud to announce that for the second year, we will be offering student scholarships to attend and present new sport ecology research at sport conferences.

There are three scholarships available: 1 for NASSM, 1 for EASM, and 1 for SMAANZ. The value of the scholarship is $500 and will be paid directly to the recipient.

We also have budget to offer one additional $500 scholarship to a student attending a conference not listed above. If that's you, submit to the WILDCARD option (deadline Aug 1, the conference can be any time in 2023).

ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA

- must be presenting on sport ecology research at the conference (submit both the abstract and confirmation of acceptance - a screenshot is fine)
- must be a graduate student (master's or PhD) in active standing (meaning, not graduated by the time of the conference)

Submissions will be judged by a panel of three SEG members on:

- novelty of the topic
- strength of the abstract (is it well written? is appropriate literature cited? is the research project well explained?)
- demonstrated financial need (clear explanation of how the funds will be used to support the student to attend at the conference, and mention of any other funds available to the student from other sources such as department funds, etc.)

DUE DATES

Submit by April 1 for NASSM (decisions will be made by April 15)

Submit by August 1 for EASM (decisions will be made by Aug 15) or the WILDCARD option

Submit by October 1 for SMAANZ (decisions will be made by Oct 15)
